

Information for students who wish to begin their studies in an advanced semester (bachelor, diploma, state examination)

It's possible to begin your studies at the Universität Leipzig in an advanced semester if certain stipulations are met. The first step is to transfer all previously earned university credits to the Universität Leipzig. Please be aware that the procedure for doing this varies:

If you've already studied at a German university:

You must include an official Anrechnungsbescheid (credits form) filled in by the appropriate examination committee in your admissions application to the Universität Leipzig. For an overview of all examination committees at the university, please consult the following website:

<http://www.zv.uni-leipzig.de/en/study/organising-your-studies>

-> Examinations

You can find a printable PDF version of the Anrechnungsbescheid (credits form) here:

If you've been accepted to a study programme in Medicine, Dentistry or Pharmacy, or you're already registered for one of said programmes, then your Anrechnungsbescheid must be filled in by the Landesämter für Medizin und Pharmazie (Examination Offices for Medicine and Pharmacy) in the German Bundesland in which you're living.

If you've already studied at a university outside of Germany:

You can only apply for admittance to an advanced semester if you can provide proof of transferrable credits earned abroad. You must include an official Anrechnungsbescheid (credits form) from the appropriate examination committee in your application for admission to the Universität Leipzig. For an overview of all examination committees at the university, please consult the following website:
