

Dr. Andrew Hagan joined USPDU as a new postdoc in June 2009. Andrew has done his Ph.D. at the Manchester Interdisciplinary Biocentre, University of Manchester, UK. His Ph.D. thesis was entitled "The chemical modification of the lantibiotic mersacidin".

He is an expert on different HPLC- and MS-techniques as well as NMR. Andrew is going to establish new protein detection assays at USPDU using different luminescence approaches.