The Faculty of Mathematics and Computer Science seeks to fill the following professorship at the earliest opportunity:

W2 Professorship in Calculus of Variations

The applicant should have an outstanding track record in a current field of analysis, in particular calculus of variations or nonlinear partial differential equations. Active collaboration with existing research groups at the Institute of Mathematics and the Max Planck Institute for Mathematics in the Sciences is expected. Experience in the acquisition of third-party funding is desirable. The successful applicant will be involved in teaching analysis at all levels.

The job holder's rights and obligations are regulated by the Saxon Freedom of Higher Education Act (SächsHSFG) and the Saxon Service Regulations for Higher Education Institutions (DAVOHS). Applicants must meet the requirements of Section 58 SächsHSFG.

Leipzig University is committed to the equality of women and men. Severely disabled persons are encouraged to apply and will be given preference in the case of equal suitability.

Please send your application with the usual documents (including a detailed CV, a list of scientific work and academic teaching including any records of teaching evaluations, and a certified copy of the certificate of the highest academic degree acquired to date), preferably also in digital format as a single PDF document, to:

Leipzig University
Dean of the Faculty of Mathematics and Computer Science
Professor Max-Konstantin von Renesse
Postfach 10 09 20
