The Faculty of Economics and Management Science seeks to fill the following professorship from 1 October 2020:

W3 Professorship in Business Administration, especially Marketing
(Successor to Professor Löbler)

We are seeking someone who is proven in the field of marketing through relevant publications in internationally outstanding professional journals, who has experience in raising competitive third-party funds, and who works at the intersection of service, innovation and start-up management with empirical orientation (quantitative or qualitative) and reference to topics of sustainability management.

Since the Faculty of Economics and Management Science offers bachelor's degree programmes in the fields of economic sciences, information systems and business education and management training as well as master's degree programmes in the fields of management science, economics, information systems and business education and management training, participation in these programmes is expected. In addition, collaboration in the management of English-language study programmes and postgraduate programmes as well as cooperation within the framework of the SMILE start-up initiative are desirable. The future holder of the position will be expected to participate in the development of a doctoral research programme.

The job holder's rights and obligations are regulated by the Saxon Freedom of Higher Education Act (SächsHSFG) and the Saxon Service Regulations for Higher Education Institutions (DAVOHS). Applicants must meet the requirements of Section 58 SächsHSFG.

Leipzig University is committed to the equality of women and men.
Severely disabled persons are encouraged to apply and will be given preference in the case of equal suitability.

Please send your application with the usual documents (including a detailed CV, a list of scientific work and academic teaching including any records of teaching evaluations, and a certified copy of the certificate of the highest academic degree acquired to date), preferably also in digital format as a single PDF document, to
