The Faculty of Physics and Earth Sciences seeks to fill the following professorship from 1 April 2022:

W2 Professorship in Solid State Physics – Magnetism

Academic context
Central research areas of the Felix Bloch Institute for Solid State Physics range from semiconducting thin films and multi-ferroic heterostructures to atomic centers with fundamental and applied questions in quantum technologies, electronics and energy conversion. The interest in magnetism and spin-dependent phenomena in general within the University’s Complex Matter research profile area stimulates cooperation, especially with the Faculty of Chemistry and Mineralogy, the Leibniz Institute of Surface Engineering, and other institutions all the way to the life sciences.

Duties
We are looking for a dedicated researcher who is interested in recent developments in the field of solid state-based magnetism, which may be in the areas of topological properties (spin-orbit materials), 2D magnetism, topological spin textures, spin centers, dilute magnetic semiconductors, quantum spintronics or exotic complex materials. The successful candidate will be required to teach experimental physics in bachelor’s and master’s courses as well as in a compulsory elective course. This includes supervising main and working group seminars as well as BSc, MSc and PhD theses with the corresponding module examinations and exams according to the doctoral regulations. Participation in university committees is expected.

Requirements
The applicant should be distinguished by relevant scientific work and the acquisition of third-party funding in the scientific field described, as well as by a willingness to cooperate with colleagues working in experimental and theoretical fields. Very good written and spoken English is desirable to cover the teaching in the English-language programs.

Our offer
The job holder’s rights and obligations are regulated by the Saxon Freedom of Higher Education Act (SächsHSFG) and the Saxon Service Regulations for Higher Education Institutions (DAVOHS). Applicants must meet the requirements of Sect. 58 SächsHSFG.

Leipzig University is committed to gender equality. Severely disabled persons are encouraged to apply and will be given preference in the case of equal suitability.

Applications with the usual documents, including a detailed CV, a list of scientific work and academic teaching to date including available records of teaching evaluations, as well as a certified copy of the highest academic degree acquired should be sent, either by post or electronically as a PDF document, to:

Leipzig University
Dean of the Faculty of Physics and Earth Sciences
Professor Christoph Jacobi
by no later than 31 Juli 2020.

Purpose and legal basis of the processing of personal data:

Any data you provide us with in connection with your application will be processed only for the purposes of this selection process and, where appropriate, in preparation for your employment. The legal basis of the processing of your personal data for appointing civil servants/for employment-related purposes is Art. 6(1) Sentence 1(e) in conjunction with (3), Art. 88 GDPR in conjunction with Sect. 111(6) of the Saxon Civil Servants Act (SächsBG) in conjunction with Sect. 4(1) Sentence 1 of the Saxon Data Protection Act (SächsDSG), and Sect. 26 of the German Federal Data Protection Act (BDSG). Insofar as you provide special categories of personal data during the application procedure within the meaning of Art. 9(1) GDPR (e.g. data concerning health, such as severely disabled status), that data will be processed so that you can exercise your rights in the field of employment and social security and social protection law and so that the controller can carry out its obligations in this regard under employment and social welfare law (Art. 9(2)(b) GDPR).

Disclosure to third parties:

Your application documents will be made available to the members of the appointment committee, which is composed of representatives of Leipzig University, the participating Equal Opportunity
Commissioner, the Disability Officer if involved, the appointment officer, external assessors, the Rectorate, the Faculty Council, the Faculty and University administration and the Saxon State Ministry of Science, Culture and Tourism (SMWK).

Personal data storage period:

The duration of the storage of personal data is governed by Sect. 11(4) of the Saxon Data Protection Implementation Act (SächsDSDG). This stipulates that data collected prior to the commencement of a service or employment relationship must be erased without undue delay as soon as it is established that a service or employment relationship will not be established. This does not apply if there is reason to believe that the erasure would harm the legitimate interests of the data subject.

If your application is successful, your documents will be added to your personnel file.

Your rights:

You have the following rights vis-à-vis the controller with regard to your personal data:

- Right of access (Art. 15 GDPR)
- Right to rectification (Art. 16 GDPR)
- Right to erasure (Art. 17 GDPR)
- Right to restriction of processing (Art. 18 GDPR)
- Right to data portability (Art. 20 GDPR)
- Right to object to data processing, where the data is collected based on Article 6(1) Sentence 1(e) or (f) (Art. 21 GDPR)
- Right to lodge a complaint with the competent supervisory authority (Saxon Commissioner for Data Protection, Bernhard-von-Lindenau-Platz 5, 01067 Dresden) (Art. 77 GDPR).

Obligation to provide data:

The provision of personal data is necessary to ensure the legality of the planned selection process. Failure to include relevant personal data in the application documents may result in your application not being considered for the post. Leipzig University’s legal requirements during the selection process result in particular from Art. 33(2) of the Basic Law (GG), the Constitution of the Free State of Saxony (SächsVerf), the General Act on Equal Treatment (AGG), the Saxon Freedom of Higher Education Act (SächsHSFG), and budgetary law.
